BACKGROUND:

The Chevy Chase 968 Zone Reservoir lies under 3 feet of earth and turf within the Chevy Chase Country Club Golf Course. Originally built in the 1920's, the Reservoir provides storage for 14.5 million gallons of water. Integrity of the structure was compromised by the Northridge earthquake and deterioration has continued as a result of the damage. It has been determined by the City of Glendale Water and Power that this reservoir needs to be replaced in order to continue to provide our costumers with clean potable water of sufficient quantity for both consumption and fire fighting activities. The project is scheduled to be completed within 24 months with the majority of the heavy construction completed within 18 months starting January 2008.
